THE ETERNAL HOME.

BY E. P. R.

The poet Christian, while content
A pilgrim still to roam,
Sang: "Every night I pitched my tent
A day's march nearer home."

Though like the fabled bird that sought,
Upon the billow's crest
(Recreant to all her instincts taught),
To build a stable nest;

We too perchance have oft essayed
The fond heart's home to rear;
By earth's false glamour still betrayed,
Mid wrecks and billows here.

The reeds that failed us in the day
When most the heart confides!
The hope-reared structures swept away
On unreturning tides!

O brother! may this day's return
Reveal to faith the prize,
Nearer by this year's march, a home,
A mansion in the skies!

*Inscribed to a brother on his birthday.

A HUSBAND'S LETTER.—Tom Hood wrote to his wife: "I never was anything till I knew you—and I have been better, happier, and more prosperous man ever since. Lay that truth by in lavender, and remind me of it when I fail. I am writing fondly and warmly; but not without good cause. First, your own affectionate letter, lately received; next the remembrance of our dear children, pledges of our old familiar love; then a delicious impulse to pour out the overflowings of my heart into yours; and last, not least, the knowledge that your dear eyes will read what my hands are now writing. Perhaps there is an afterthought that, whatever may befall me, the wife of my bosom will have this acknowledgement of her tenderness worth and excellence, of all that is wifely or womanly from my pen."

After Dinner.

Brigham Young recently said to a meeting of Mormons: "I pray for our enemies, brethren, but I always pray that they may go to hell." N. Y. Observer.

It is announced as an interesting fact that for $1,000 a man can buy a ticket that will carry him around the globe. This seems like useless extravagance, when, if he will stand still, the globe itself will carry him around the same distance in twenty four hours for nothing.

A keen witted servant girl in Troy, New York, told the milkman the other day that he gave his cows too much salt. "How do you know that?" said the lacteal ist. "Sure I kin tell be the milk that they dhrink to much wather entirely!" said the girl. The milkman drove off in a hurry.

A sentimental young man, in speaking to his father's coachman of a neighboring family, remarked that 'they were happy until sorrow suddenly came and left her traces there." The coachman looked puzzled, but finally responded: "Indeed, sir, an' what did she do with the rest of the harness?

The following advertisement appears in one of the daily papers:

A lady (College graduate) prepares teachers (adults); finishes young ladies; simple explanations on most difficult studies; creates love of knowledge and literature; first class. Address Agreeable Study, &c., &c.

A lady who can "finish a young lady," and "create a love of knowledge" must be worth having.

An Irishman in a time of alarm and danger wrote to a friend: "You may judge of our state when I tell you that I write this with a sword in one hand and a pistol in the other."

A member of Parliament, in a speech exclaimed: "Sir, I would give up half, nay, the whole of the Constitution, to preserve the remainder!"

Thinking he had discovered a conspiracy, he invented the ridiculous metaphor, "I smell a rat, I see him floating in the air, but, mark me, I shall yet nip him in the bud."

On another occasion he perpetrated a bull "I stand prostrate at the feet of my sovereign."

Said a gentleman "I told you to make one shoe larger than the other, and instead of that you have made one smaller than the other—the opposite."

Blunderers still live, for I read the other day of the shooting of a wild cat by a little boy five feet eight inches long, and some may have heard of that remarkable man who went to California twenty years ago with only one shirt, and since then has contrived, by a close application to business, to accumulate over ten millions.

OLD-TIME PASTIMES.

So much of our life is made up from books and papers that we can scarcely imagine what people did in the old times before they had any such things. It is said, however, that they spent a good deal of their time in the evenings telling riddles and guessing hard questions; and an old book, printed in 1511, gives the following specimens:

Q. Who was Adam's mother?
A. The earth.
Q. How many calves' tails would it take to reach from the earth to the sky?
A. One, if it were long enough.
Q. What is it that never was and never will be?
A. A mouse's nest in a cat's ear.
Q. Why do men make an oven in a town?
A. Because they cannot make a town in an oven.
Q. What is it that never freezes?
A. Boiling water.
Q. Which was the first, the hen or the egg?
A. The hen, at the creation.
Q. How many straws go to make a goose's nest?
A. Not one, for straws not having feet, cannot go anywhere.
Q. Who killed the fourth part of the people in the world?
A. Cain, when he killed Abel.

—Advance.

"There are two ways of doing it," said Pat to himself as he stood musing and waiting for a job on a street corner. "If I save me $4,000 I must lay up $200 a year for twenty years, or I can put away $20 a year for two hundred years. Now, which way will I do it?"

Some people are not endowed with the faculty of seeing a joke. Lord Morpeth used to tell of a Scotch friend of his who, to the remark that some people could not feel a jest unless it was fired at them with a cannon, replied: "Weel, but hoo can ye fire a jest out of a cannon, mon?"

Have you seen a dictionary
Of this new vocabulary,
Which pronounces Either i-ther,
And pronounces Neither ny-ther?
Do not call it affectation,
Snobby show pronunciation:
It upsets the ei diphthong,
Making s and ichange places,
With the ease of Grecian graces;
Only let them change their stations
In like place in all relations—
Change their places in believers,
Change them also in deceivers—
Change conceited to conceyted,
Fortune's freight to fright affrighted,
For the rule which gives us i-ther,
Changing neither into ny-ther,
Makes believers all belyvers,
And deceivers all decyvers,
The conceited man conceyted,
While the freighted ship is fryted,
Deigning, too, is dining true,
For every line brings something new,
Vein is vine before this current;
Weight is wite, with Yankee accent;
If you cannot change these, also
Speak as others do, or should do.

AN ORDINANCE to abate and remove nuisances from the streets and public places of the township of Montclair.

Be it ordained by the Township Committee of the township of Montclair as follows:

1. The Township Committee of said township shall and may, from time to time, appoint and remove one of their own number, to be known under and by the name of the Health Officer of the township whose duty it shall be to abate and remove the several nuisances hereafter declared and defined, and, under the direction of the said committee, to sue for and collect any and all penalties which may be incurred by violation or violations of this ordinance.

2. No person shall throw or place, or suffer his or her servant or other member of his or her family to throw or place any carcass, carrion, blood, putrid meat or fish, oust, night soil, ashes, decayed vegetables, garbage, shells, straw, shavings, dirt, filth, rubbish, or any of foulsome or unwholesome substance or liquid whatever, in, into or upon any street, brook, stream or public place of said township; the same being hereby severally declared and defined to be nuisances.

3. No person shall suffer or permit any night soil, sewerage, blood, drainage from any sink, privy or cess-pool, or any other noxious or offensive substance or liquid to flow or pass from the premises by him or her occupied in into, or upon any street, brook, stream or highway of said township; the same being hereby severally declared and defined to be nuisances.

4. In case of any such nuisance being committed or permitted by any person or persons, it shall be the duty of the said Health Officer to notify him, her or them thereof, in writing, requiring him, her, or them to abate and remove the same within six hours after the service of such notice, under a penalty of Ten dollars for each and every failure so to abate and remove the same; and in the event of the failure of such person or persons so offending and so notified to comply with said notice, within the time aforesaid, then the said Health Officer shall abate and remove said nuisance, and proceed to collect the said penalty in the manner provided by law.
